Class of 1966

Wyomissing Area High School

WYOMISSING, PENNSYLVANIA

Volume XLIII

Dedication

One of the many changes this year at Wyomissing High School came in the administration with the appointment of Mr. David R. Barrett as principal. Throughout the year, Mr. Barrett has aided the students in adjusting to the new academic and physical environment by his firm action when necessary, and by his friendly and helpful manner. This, coupled with new facilities and opportunities, has led to a great upsurge in school spirit and pride among all students.

We, the Class of 1966, would like to congratulate Mr. Barrett on his first academic year at Wyomissing, and do dedicate the Colophon of 1966 to him, with sincere wishes for his continued success.

Prologue

We, members of the Class of 1966, have had the privilege of enjoying new facilities, activities, and spirit in this, our senior year. We have been pioneering in many ways, and, hopefully, have blazed a trail for others to follow, as our forefathers did, generations before us.

Alma Mater

Wyomissing we sing,
Praises to you we bring,
Holding fast your pride of beauty,
Leadership in everything.

Knowledge for all good and right,
Courage, strength to seek the light,
Bearing high the torch of learning,
May we keep it bright.

Our spirit will not fall,
Alma Mater, we'll recall,
Memories of you we'll treasure
Wyomissing High . . .

Wyomissing, to you
We will always be true,
Hail to thee and praise forever,
Pure white and clearest blue.

These are of us, they are with us,
All for primal needed work, while the followers
there in embryo wait behind . . .
Pioneers! O Pioneers!

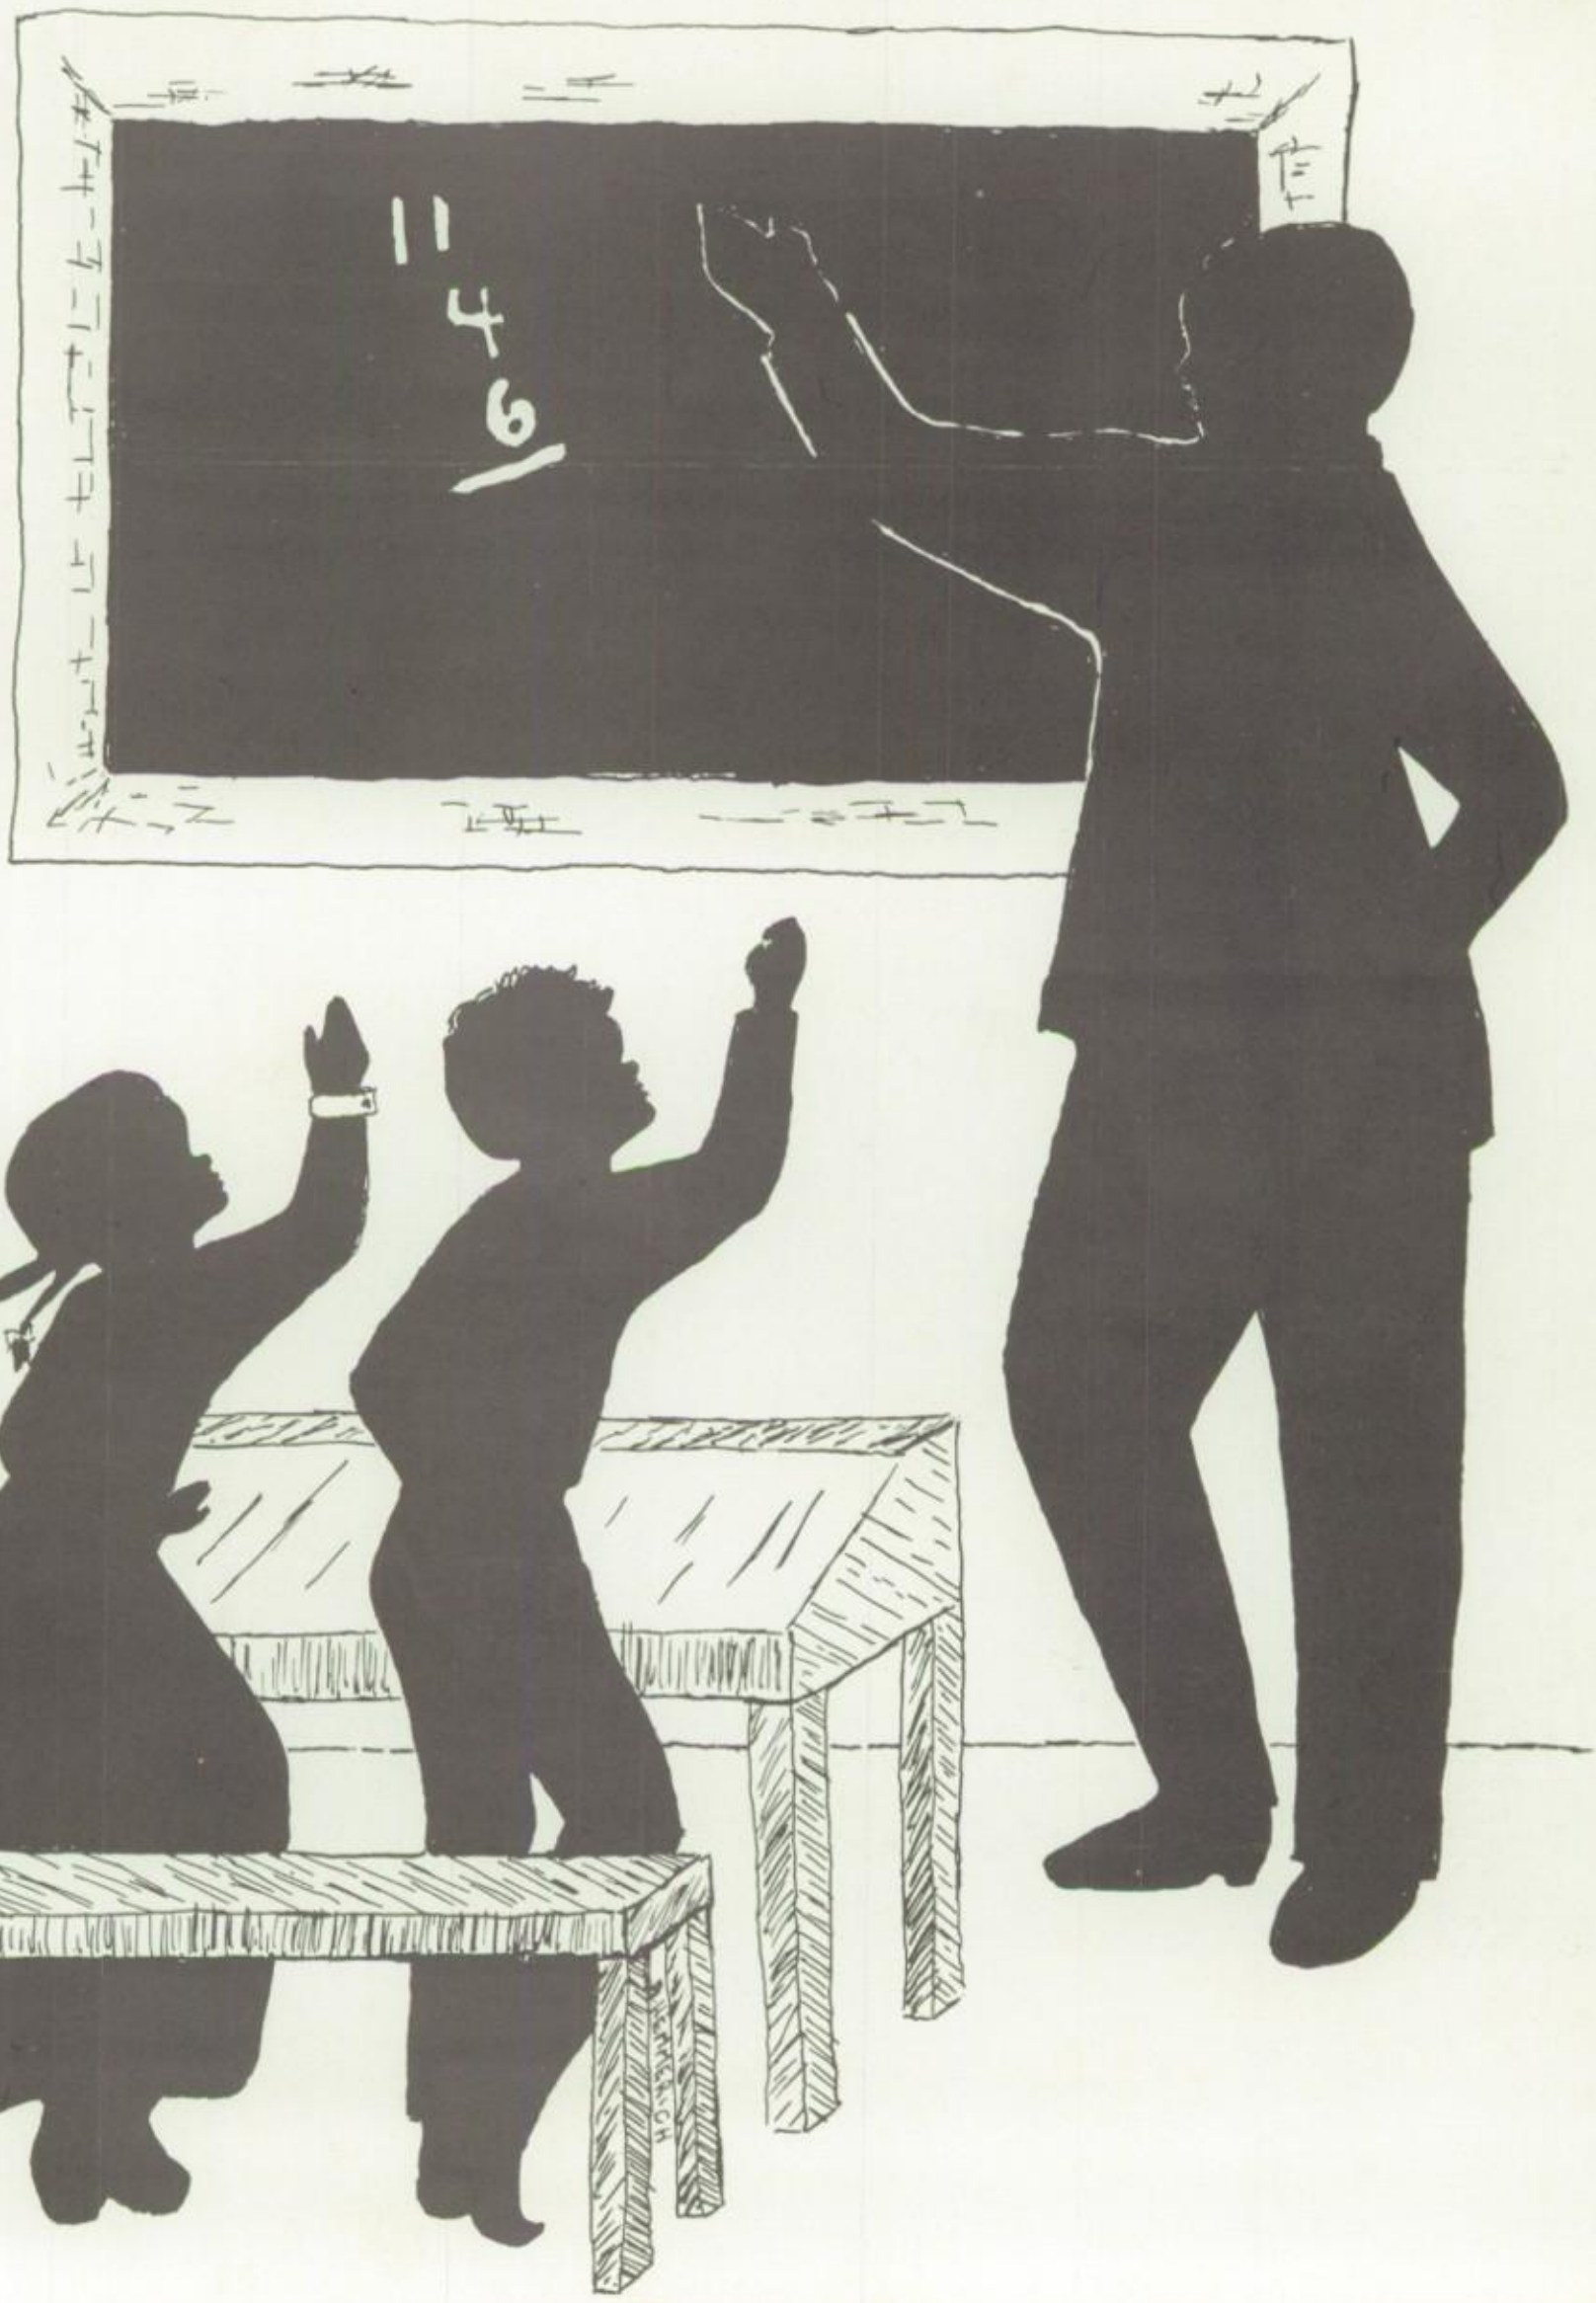
Academics



Mrs. Jeanne Miller, receptionist and secretary.

Mrs. Kozloff and Mr. Reitz ponder the 1966 SAT results.

Administration

Mrs. Jon Troutmann, secretary.

"Gee, I don't know how to work it, either!" confesses Mr. Barrett to Mrs. Albrecht.

Dr. Shafer smiles good morning.

Dr. Shafer

It is somewhat trite to say that the fourth "R" of education is "Responsibility." Nevertheless, there is probably no more basic good that I might wish for you as an outcome of your education.

How well educated is the young man or young woman who assumes no personal responsibility for the success of his class, the reputation of his school, the public image of his generation? Surely there is something lacking in the training of the individual who refuses to assume his personal responsibility for good government, for law enforcement, for the defense of decency and freedom at home and abroad.

I salute the Wyomissing student who makes a personal commitment to the fourth "R" of education!

B. Henry Shafer.

Mr. Barrett

Not only were we given a new school this year, but also a new principal. Mr. David R. Barrett, III received his bachelor's degree in music from Boston University's School of Fine Arts. He did graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Connecticut, receiving a master's degree in Education and Administration. He is now working for his doctor's degree in Education and Administration at Lehigh University.

Mr. Barrett taught music theory and composition and mathematics in Vermont. He also taught music theory and composition in West Chester, Pennsylvania. He became administrative assistant at the junior-senior high school. Some of his hobbies are hunting and playing the piano.

Mr. Barrett counsels Mike Cafurello.

School Board

Officers of the school board discuss new plans. SEATED—Mrs. McGonigle, secretary; Mrs. Jon Troutman, treasurer. STANDING—Mr. Breitinger, president; Mr. Dracha, vice-president.

Perhaps the best adjective to describe the School Board's activities this past year is progressive. The dedication of the new high school marked not only a new era for Wyomissing's school system, but also the beginning of a busy session for the Board. Physical improvements were not limited to the high school. An addition, consisting of six classrooms and a library, was decided upon for the Wyomissing Hills Elementary School, together with plans for further renovations.

External improvements are now under way. Internal changes are yet to come. The Board has approved plans for next year's program of studies. Scheduled is the introduction of a modular curriculum, homogeneous grouping, and team teaching.

Parent-Teacher Association

As always, the Wyomissing Parent Teacher Association presented monthly programs designed to interest parents and teachers on both the elementary and high school level. This year also represented a year of giving, not only of funds but of time and effort as well. In October, the members of the association sponsored a banquet for the Wyomissing Area teachers. They worked to insure the success of the High School Dedication. They have donated both funds and effort to various school activities which include the drive to earn money for the purchase of new band uniforms and the attempt to raise adequate funds for the American Field Service.

This year's executive board included the following: president, Mrs. Edward A. Reider; first vice-president, Mrs. Robert M. Schumo; second vice-president, Mrs. Douglas S. Kaufman; secretary, Mrs. Peyton Johnston; and treasurer, Mr. J. Edward Seasholtz.

There were various committees headed by the following people: Programs, Mrs. William Scheneman and Mr. Humbert Manzolillo; Publicity, Mr. James Woodward; Publications, Mrs. Kyle Whitefield; Hospitality, Mrs. James Butler; Membership, Mrs. Robert Coxe; Ways and Means, Mrs. Leonard Woodring; Legislative, Mr. Carl Mogel; Hallowe'en, Mr. Gus Chaknos and Mr. Richard Ginn; Teacher Representative (Elementary), Mr. David Evans; Teacher Representative (High School), Mrs. Arthur Stover; and Policy, Mr. William Wagner.

Mrs. Hans Westkott ..... Senior High Librarian, second semester

"Now, Suzanne, you can get your report card."

Libraries are for browsing.

"From the Terrace."

"I found it!" joyously exclaims Mrs. DiCintio.

Instructional Media Center

In a concentrated effort to update the curriculum offered at Wyomissing and aid the faculty of both elementary and secondary schools, a center of instructional media has been developed. With Mr. Gary M. Neights as director, the center is proving to be invaluable to both teachers and students alike.

The work done in the center can best be broken down into five phases. The first phase is that of production and preparation of educational materials. There, matter may be laminated, dry-mounted, or photo-copied. Projectuals, ditto-masters, slides, and magnetic tapes are also prepared. Phase two is that of the in-service training of teachers. This department also provides, as phase three, material which is used by members of the newly established program of individual instruction. The fourth is that of evaluating purchases and distributing equipment and instructional materials. The final phase is one of making minor repairs on the equipment used in both the center itself as well as that used in the classroom.

Claire, Van, and Jean improve their listening skills.

"And we put the paper in here, and it comes out . . . "

" . . . Curses! Foiled again!"

Industrial Arts

R. Restrepo, Mr. Shirk, and B. Charles contemplate architectural designs.

"Now remember, we must keep our fingers out of the vise. Mustn't we, Tommy?" directs Mr. Shirk.

Home Economics

Mrs. Stover seems to be pleased with the new Home Economics Suite.

The Mad Hatter never had it so good!

Business Education

Bookmaking is fun with Mr. Goodling.

Mr. Goodling leads a spirited discussion.

Music

Mr. Rentschler and an aspiring percussionist practice the Bib Beat.

Under the leadership of Pam Giles, president of the Student Body, the Senior High Cooperative functioned efficiently as the Wyomissing High student government. Meeting each Tuesday morning first period in the new student lounge area, this group, consisting of the elected representatives from each homeroom, deliberated on the current problems of student affairs and activities. In an effort to boost school spirit, the Cooperative sponsored pep rallies, the sale of shakers, and a basketball game featuring teams from the faculty and a local radio station. Christmas decorations for the new school were purchased. Dances were sponsored after Friday night home basketball games. The members expedited the coordinating of the school store, the overseeing of the orientation program, and the conduction of the annual election of next year's officers. This year the presidents of the three senior high classes as well as representatives from Hi-Y and Y-Teens were made members of the Cooperative. Maryellen Jones and Tom Breitinger were sent to the West Chester State College campus during the summer to participate in the Student Council Workshop. Miss Thelma Brunner again capably supervised the activities of the Co-op.

Hi-Y-Teen Service Award

Every year the outstanding members of the Hi-Y and Y-Teen Clubs are presented with a medal signifying one of the highest awards bestowed upon a student. This year the recipients of the Hi-Y-Teen Service Award, elected by the junior and sophomore members of the clubs on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character, school spirit, and devoted service were Thomas Bausher and Susan Patton.

The highest recognition of scholarship at Wyomissing High School is election to the National Honor Society. In order to be eligible, a student must rank in the upper-quarter of his class. Then, these students are rated by the faculty as to their classroom leadership, school service, and character. Ten percent of the Junior Class and fifteen percent of the Senior Class are admitted. This year, seniors having had two years as members were: William Schlegel, Alice Coblentz, Pamela Giles, Jacqueline Allison, Karen Krissiep, Carol Boyer, Elizabeth Spang, Mary Elizabeth Speicher, and Susan Patton. New senior members were: Kathy Peters, Karen Rhoads, Wendy Hayes, Alexandra Tomalonis, Sheryl Thomas, Scott Sutton, Ruhl Heffner, Andrew Nagle, Diane Hill, Marianne Marx, Sharon Dundore, Salli Coulton, and Susan Grubb. Juniors recently elected to the society were: Maryellen Jones, Myra Farrell, Andrew Maier, Wesley Makuch, Joan Snyder, Karen Nester, Thomas Breitinger, Barbara Binder, Nancy Muller, and Marsha Atkinson. These new members were inducted in June at the Awards assembly.

Sembower Oratorical Contest

The fortieth annual Sembower Oratorical Contest was held in February, commemorating the death of Guy Knowlton Sembower, a student of Wyomissing who died while a freshman in the class of 1931. Senior high students are eligible to compete for cash prizes, awarded to the three best written, memorized, and delivered orations. These speeches were the product of each student's originality.

Finalists and their topics were: Maryellen Jones, The Sense of Wonder; Taci Grubb, The Right of the American Negro; Linda Koch, Can We Survive the Age of the City?; Andrew Maier, Civil Disobedience; Wesley Makuch, The New York Transit Strike; Charlotte Hassett, The Vast Debasement of the Environment; and Barbara Binder, That Million Dollar Combination.

First prize was awarded to Maryellen Jones, second to Barbara Binder, and third to Wesley Makuch. The judges were Mr. Barrett, Mrs. Westkott, and Mrs. Knipe. Pam Giles acted as moderator. Mr. Randall Romig served as faculty adviser.

The International Student Committee was fortunate this year in having two of its members with international traveling experience. Mary Schatz lived in Finland for three months under the sponsorship of the American Field Service. With the endorsement of International Fellowship, Karen Rhoads traveled to San Juan, Argentina, to study for a summer.

The whole student body was also happy to have among its ranks two popular AFS students. One, Eilon Sjoberg, from Sweden, made his second home with Scott Sutton and his family. The other, Fereshteh Farzampour, came late in the school year. However, she immediately adjusted to Wyomissing and the Coblentzes, her host family. Ferie, as she prefers to be called, is from Tehran, Iran.

The committee's main projects for the year were an assembly to initiate the AFS fund raising drive, an April Fool's Dance, and a tea for all international students in Berks County.

A staff of enterprising seniors advised by Mr. Russell Milford, Mr. Charles Goodling, and Mr. D. C. Shirk labored from the early summer tasks of organizing through the spring complex of deadlines to complete the school's annually published yearbook, the Colophon.

Led by editor Scott Sutton, the staff dedicated its best efforts to the customary tasks of dummy-making, funds soliciting, picture taking, copy editing, cover designing, and final publication. Striving toward these imposing goals and passing all other obstacles the staff was able to meet all deadlines. After much preparation and hard work, the senior class endowed Wyomissing with another Colophon.

The remainder of the staff included: Alexandra Tomalonis and Sheryl Thomas, academics; Susan Patton and Mark Scheneman, activities; Wenry Hayes and Jay Bechtel, sports; Elizabeth Spang and Karen Rhoads, underclassmen; Salli Coulton and David Schmidt, seniors; Michael Homcha and Sharon Dundore, typing; Ann Hemmerich and Thomas Stutzman, art; and Eilon Sjoberg, photography.

The advisers and editor ponder the Colophon's future.

"All right, girls — right leg over left, and please stand up straight."

"Now if we crop this one here . . . " Andy and Wendy sort through piles of pictures.

The school newspaper staff worked energetically to make the Chieftain a reading delight for its 350 subscribers. The staff started the year with a subscription drive skit entitled the "Typewriter Affair," starring Steve Evans, Bruce Newton, Tom Bausher, Buddy Scholar, and Jill Elder.

Because of the unusually sound financial condition of the Chieftain, several additional features were highlighted by the staff. The February edition contained an insert of pictures describing the average day in the life of a Wyomissing High School student. The April edition surprised many with its literary antics.

The debate team is an organization (for juniors and seniors) affiliated with the County Panel Discussion Group. In the spring of each year this club is activated for a series of three debates.

Under the guidance of Mr. Charles Gebensleben, the members researched the topic and then composed original speeches. The debates themselves were in the form of discussion rather than that of the formal debate. Presenting their own views on the topic, Compulsory Union Membership, Charlotte Hassett and Joan Snyder spoke at Wilson High School on March 18, 1966. At Wyomissing, before the senior class in the L.G.I. room on March 22, Michael Homcha and Thomas Breitinger spoke on Labor-Management Relations with Mark Scheneman serving as moderator. In the final debate concerning Red Chinese Membership in the UN, Alexandra Tomalonis and Kathleen Nally represented Wyomissing at Governor Mifflin High School on March 22. Remaining members of the team were: Janice Thomas, Wesley Makuch, and Andrew Maier.

Y-Teens

Y-Teens listed their goals as: "To grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God." Keeping these ideals in mind, the Wyomissing High School Y-Teens organization was developed basically as a service organization. This year the girls collected money for UNICEF at Hallowe'en, operated a fish pond for children at the YWCA's Festival of Nations, donated several boxes of food to the Salvation Army for Christmas baskets, and gave sev-

However, Y-Teens did not stop with only service projects. Many social activities were included on their calendar. On February 16, the annual square dance was held in the cafeteria with the Hi-Y. Miss Susan Schad, a former Y-Teen president, spoke about her trip to India at the mother-daughter social on March 4. Finally, the successful year was ended with a fashion show sponsored by the Heather Shop.

The Wyomissing Hi-Y Club was organized as a branch of the youth program sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. It has now attained the status as the oldest such club in Pennsylvania. Dedicated to service to the community and school, while acting as a social club, this popular organization coordinated numerous activities and projects throughout the year. Cooperating with their sister organization, Y-Teens, and utilizing the facilities of the new cafeteria, they presented a novel interclub dance with the theme, "Autumn Leaves." Members attended an ice hockey game at Hershey and camped out at Indiantown Gap. To raise funds, the boys collected old newspapers and magazines from the borough in November. One hundred dollars of the profit was awarded as a scholarship to the club member scoring highest in a competitive examination. Besides monthly meetings, a hoagie night with the Y-Teens, a Hi-Y Teens picnic, and a banquet which concluded the year's activities highlighted the social season. Under the guidance of Mr. Jesse Sheetz, faculty adviser, the executive cabinet organized these projects.

President ..... Alicia Coblentz
Vice-President ..... Elena Coulton
Secretary ..... Adela Dundore
Treasurer ..... Vincente Quereau
Faculty Adviser ..... Mrs. Norman Knipe

Spanish Club began its 1965-66 season with a game night. Open only to seniors, the club tested its members' knowledge of Spanish vocabulary with "crucigrams" and "bingo." In November, Juana Rhoads displayed her slides of San Juan, Argentina.

The traditional December meeting brought cries of "Ole" as Mr. Barrett broke the Christmas tree piñata. After the holidays, a covered dish dinner was held in the cafeteria featuring such Spanish delicacies as tamale and pastel de couservas. Finally, the club ended its year with a trip to New York City. Here the members absorbed further Castilian culture.

French Club

President ..... John Bechtel
Vice-President ..... Patricia Eshenaur
Secretary ..... Kathy Nolan
Treasurer ..... Sherida Wiseman
Faculty Adviser ..... Miss Jones

As an organization for advanced language students, the French Club strove to stimulate interest in French-related subjects outside of the classroom. Under the guidance of Miss Margaret Jones, the club members embarked on a program designed to foster a new dimension for their adopted language. While working towards this goal, they engaged in enjoyable activities as a supplement to serious study. During the course of the year, movies depicted French culture and mode of life. At other meetings, students played "bingo" and scrabble. For communication, French only was permitted. The club also viewed a French movie at Albright College in the fall and sponsored another movie entitled "Banana Peel" at a local theatre in the spring.

Secretaries ..... Marilyn Schaeffer
Marta Schlegel
Treasurer ..... Carol Basehore
Faculty Adviser ..... Mrs. Annie Knappenberger

The Future Nurses Club of America started its year with a guest speaker from the ship HOPE. The nurse explained the purpose of the ship and showed slides of its recent trip to the east coast of Africa. To this meeting FNA members of Exeter High School were invited. Another talk the future nurses enjoyed was delivered by Miss Emalyn R. Weiss, county director of special education.

Highlighting the year for two of the club's members, Marilyn Schaeffer and Marta Schlegel, was a trip to Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, for the state FNA convention. Other club members had the opportunity to work at the Reading Hospital.

FNA sponsored the first dance of the term early in September. The club also wrapped and prepared bandages for the Reading Hospital.

Future Teachers of America

President ..... Kathy Peters
Vice-President ..... Ann Speicher
Secretary ..... Myra Farrell
Treasurer ..... Elizabeth Spang
County FTA Representative ..... Karen Rhoads
Faculty Adviser ..... Miss Thelma Brunner

The Wyomissing chapter of Future Teachers of America, under the aegis of Kathy Peters, tried to give its members a broader insight concerning the field of education as a profession. Many of the club members gained experience by assisting grade school teachers for a day. The club traveled to the Special Education Center in order to learn more about this broadening area of teaching. Throughout the year various speakers spoke to the club members on various aspects of pedagogy. Mr. David Barrett talked to the girls about new teaching methods of the future, and Mrs. Sara Mack explained the art of story telling.

The club sponsored a dance in the cafeteria and also attended the county FTA dinner meeting.

Library Clubs

Primarily service organizations, the Library Clubs' main function is to aid in the libraries at all times. The assistants' duties include taking charge of the main desks, returning books to shelves, filing magazines, mending books and magazines, and preparing new books for circulation. Highlighting the Junior High club's year was a faculty tea held on February 17. The Senior High club traveled to the annual Teenage Library Association Conference in Hamburg where Margot Krissiep was elected as next year's TLA vice-president.

Junior Town Meeting

Bill Schlegel, Wendy Hayes, Salli Coulton, and Carol Boyer discuss debate topics for the coming year.

President ..... Carol Boyer
Vice-President ..... Wendy Hayes
Secretary ..... Salli Coulton
Treasurer ..... William Schlegel
Faculty Adviser ..... Mr. James O'Connor

As one of the most popular clubs of the senior high, Junior Town Meeting promoted better understanding of contemporary topics to members through discussion and debate. Seniors and juniors who met standard requirements made up this membership. Meeting monthly, this group took turns in debating on a controversial topic. After this panel discussion period, debate was open for the opinions of the members from the floor. Such topics as government censorship, birth control, and draft requirements were discussed. The annual club picnic was held at the end of the year to round out a full program. Mr. James O'Connor, relating the topic of discussion to regular social studies classes, advised the club.

Stage Crew

The task of preparing the physical arrangements of the stage fell on a group of dedicated workers comprising the Stage Crew. Randy Bertolette took charge of the operation of the stage and direction of personnel. Mr. Charles Goodling advised the members. They were responsible not only for the regular assemblies, but also for the Junior Class Play, Dedication, and the Senior Commencement Play productions. Providing the foundation of an efficient crew were: Michael Homcha, Philip Smith, Douglass Krom, and Peter Patton.

Service

Senior High Fire Platoon

The Senior High Fire Platoon was composed of a group of junior and senior boys who helped regulate student evacuation in an emergency due to fire. Mr. Charles Bell, who chose and advised the organization, established a master plan of escape for the new building. Thomas Bausher, David Ahner, and James Kunkelman lead evacuating procedures during monthly fire drills.

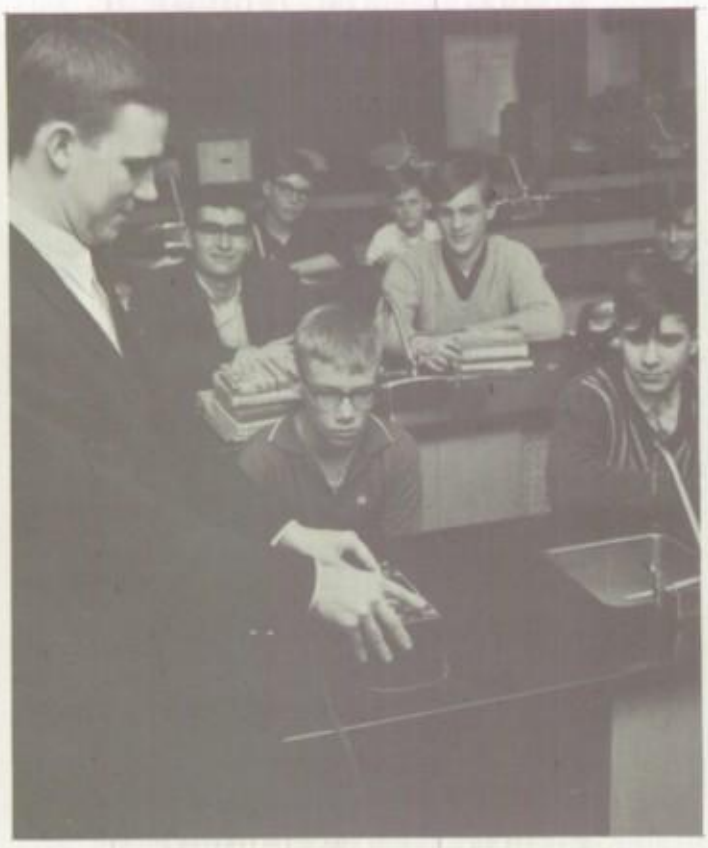
Chess Club

The Chess Club was established to increase the understanding of the game and provide an opportunity to further the individual member's skill. At meetings, Mr. Costenbader, club adviser, provided insight into this game of regal origin by leading discussions in its examination and play. As a prelude to these mechanics, match and tournament play was conducted. In an effort to stimulate, diversified programs were held on segments of the game.

Automotive and Aeronautics Club



"Now if this switch is turned . . . "

A recently established school organization, the Automotive and Aeronautics Club was designed for boys of the ninth grade interested in the mechanics of the engine. The comprehension of various types of sport, racing, and stock cars was discussed. The boys also studied the intricacies of military and private aircraft. Coupled with such activities was the orientation to the mechanical aspects of cars and aircraft. At monthly meetings films, usually dealing in racing and flying, were presented to the members. As a yearling club, the Automotive and Aeronautics Club did not elect officers. Mr. Ronald Dunkelberger completely coordinated and guided club meetings while serving as adviser.

The three high school choruses worked diligently to present two fine musical programs. The first, the traditional Christmas pageant, was entitled "Christmas Comes Again," featuring "O Holy Night," sung by Sharon Dundore. On April 1, the second assembly was given, presenting appropriate Easter music.

Wyomissing High School was host this year to the Senior High County Chorus. Local representatives to the chorus were: Sharon Dundore, Susan Patton, Dudley Cleghorn, Christine Mengel, Karen Rhoads, Jill Brossman, Mark Scheneman, and Wayne Kauffman. In addition, Susan Patton and Sharon Dundore participated in the Eastern District Chorus, March 25 and 26 at Boyertown Area High School. Several students from the junior high choruses were selected to attend the Junior High County Chorus at Muhlenberg High School on March 5. They were: Keith Sutton, Carl Zeswitz, Linda Reber, Sandra Dunlap, Denise Bertolet, and Heather Thomas.

Band

President ..... Mark Scheneman
Vice-President ..... Douglas Krom
Secretary ..... Andrew Nagle
Director ..... Mr. Donald Rentchler

Under the directorship of Mr. Donald Rentchler, the Wyomissing High School Band began to accomplish many of the goals which will lead to a good future marching and concert unit. In Mr. Rentchler's first year as instrumental instructor, the Band took on many new and varied activities. Starting with a small nucleus of musicians at the beginning of the year, the Band increased to forty pieces. During this time the Band provided the music for home football games as well as numerous pep rallies. Later, a pep band of ten pieces was formed to promote spirit at basketball contests. A special brass ensemble was created for entertainment of the community during Christmas and a dance band was organized.

The concert band took on a challenging schedule which required special practice. Sectional rehearsals were conducted during the Monday activity periods, Wednesdays after school, and, occasionally, in the evenings at special sessions. The result of these many labors was a unified group which presented programs of varied content to the grade schools and the high school in the spring. Mark Scheneman represented the Band at County, District, and Regional Band Festivals.

Inter-Club

"Autumn Leaves" drifted through the new high school cafeteria November 16 for the annual Interclub dance organized by the Hi-Y and Y-Teens. Headed by Dave Ahner, Maryellen Jones, and Carol Boyer, the committee provided a romantic atmosphere for the fifty couples that attended the dance. Colored spot lights accented the landscaping outside the picture windows. Encircling the room, small candles flickered on tables for four or eight guests.

Committee heads were: Joan Snyder, decorations; Elizabeth Spang, invitations; Jill Brossman, tables; Myra Farrell, refreshments; Jim Kunkelman, music; David Schmidt, lighting; and Bruce Newton, tickets.

Junior High Student Council

Junior High Student Council Officers discuss plans for the coming year.

President ..... Peter Schlegel
Vice-President ..... Betsy Soussloff
Secretary ..... Linda Heisler
Treasurer ..... Linda Reber
Faculty Adviser ..... Mr. Leonard Noll

This year, for the first time, Junior and Senior High Student Councils were completely separated. However, several activities were organized throughout the year as a joint effort by the two parties.

Late in October, the junior high student governing body organized the first junior high dance — a sock hop held in the gym — entitled "Harvest Hop." During the winter, the council helped to sponsor four dances after Friday night basketball games. A fifteen cent admission was charged and profits were split between the junior and senior co-ops.

Junior High Co-op planned the A.F.S. campaign in the junior high school building. Finally, in March, campaigns were waged for the council's succeeding officers. The winning candidates were: Charles Derr, president; Keith Sutton, vice-president; Susan Finke, secretary; and Nina Smith, treasurer.

Junior Foreign Relations Club

The Junior Foreign Relations Club is designed to acquaint interested junior high school students with the current problems of international magnitude. During monthly meetings, members discussed such controversial issues as Red Chinese Membership in the United Nations and American Policy in Southeast Asia. The U.N. itself was studied with a main emphasis on its influence on our country's foreign policy.

The highlight of the year was a trip to Washington, D. C., in the spring. Members had the opportunity of seeing the machinery of government at work and viewing some of our noted national shrines. Mr. Leonard Noll advised the group headed by John Speicher, president.

Blue Triangle plans for "Oldie but Goodie Night."

Early in October, Miss Bonnie Jones, Teenage Director of the YWCA, visited and talked with the members of the Wyomissing chapter of Blue Triangle about their relationship to the YWCA. Blue Triangle, the junior high counterpart of Y-Teens, is a service organization that strives to live up to the Christian ideals of the YWCA.

The club's activities this year included an "Oldie but Goodie" Dance on February 4, a slumber party at the YWCA in April, an Easter decorating project for Community General Hospital, and a closing banquet in May.

After suffering several years with a lack of enthusiasm, Blue Triangle, with the aid of efficient leadership and faithful supporters, became one of the junior high school's most active organizations.

The Junior Hi-Y, the junior high school counterpart of the Senior Hi-Y club, pursued a vigorous schedule of activities. Advised by Mr. Clarence Weik, the Junior Hi-Y acted as a social as well as a service club.

The sale of school license plates, iniated last year, helped to fill the coffer. Scrap drives conducted in the fall added more funds. Later a special club-sponsored school dance was held. These activities financed a campout at Indiantown Gap, a trip to view an ice hockey game, and the purchase of a neck microphone for stage use during assemblies.

An Educational Investment

The Wyomissing High School student body was indeed fortunate in having the opportunity to study in the newly constructed senior high building and the recently renovated junior high building. Striving to meet the needs of the individual students, the new facilities provided the student body with opportunities in various fields of education.

A language laboratory, programmed to handle four different tapes at one time, became an integral part of the language suite. The large group instruction room provided space for over one hundred individuals to hear lectures, view movies, and observe demonstrations. An instructional media center, under the direction of Mr. Gary Neights, enabled many students to spend study hall time reviewing film strips or listening to tapes. The relaxed atmosphere of the library made reference an important part of every student's life.

The new high school building perceptibly changed the behavior patterns of the students. Carpeted halls muted the cacophony of interclass traffic. Both administration and faculty state that the new surroundings have contributed largely to improved academic attitudes.

Football

On August 18, 1965, Varsity hopefuls reported to the field house for football practice. The 1965 football season had begun.

For three weeks the squads toiled in sweltering heat in preparation for their opening match against Redland. Under the competent leadership of head coach Gebensleben and assistant coaches Hoffert and Messina, the club slowly rounded into shape, and pre-season scrimmages with Central Catholic and Columbia High Schools accustomed the team to actual game conditions. By September 19, the Warriors were fully prepared for Redland over whom they triumphed 7-0.

Although the Blue and White Warriors turned in a losing card for the season, their performance was a marked improvement over that of the 1964 aggregation and produced many exciting moments throughout the season.

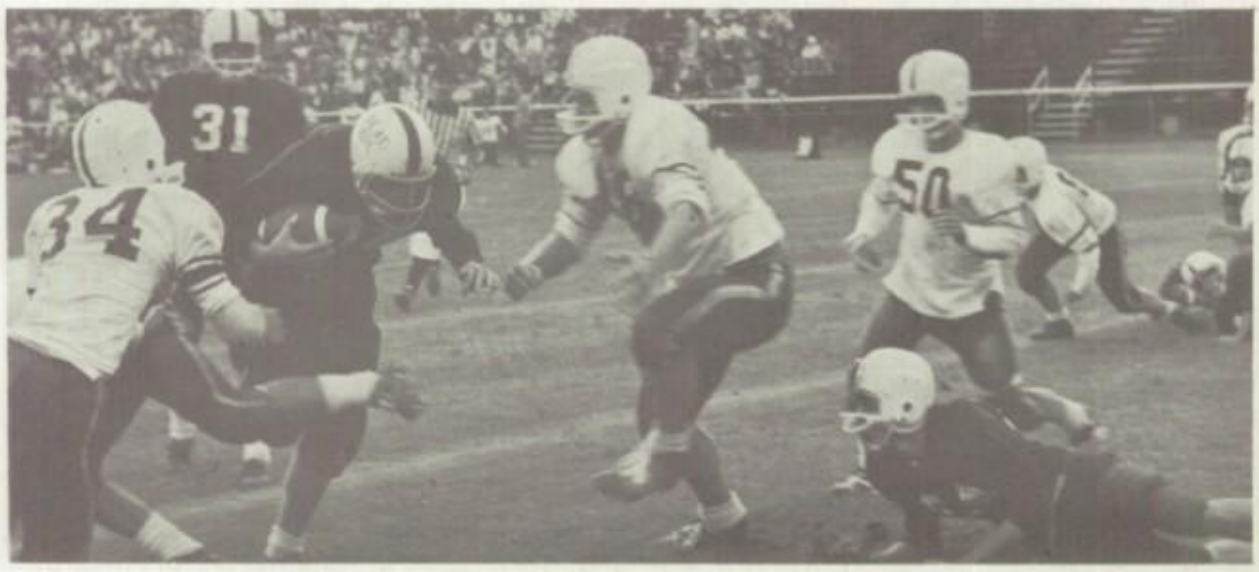
REDLAND 0

In the season's first contest the Warriors eked out a 7-0 win over Redland. The game was a scoreless deadlock until the fourth quarter, when a fumble recovery on Redland's 18-yard line lead to a five-yard scoring toss from Bill Schlegel to Tom Bausher.

WYOMISSING 20
WEST READING 7

In the second fracas, Wyomissing triumphed 20-7 over arch rival West Reading. Trailing 7-6 at halftime, the Warriors regained the lead in the third quarter and iced the game with a fourth quarter tally. Buddy Scholar and Jim Kunkelman tallied the three touchdowns.



Scholar bulls through two hopeless defenders.

WYOMISSING 7
BRIDGEPORT 13

The Blue and White suffered its first loss of the season to Bridgeport, 13-7. A two-yard touchdown plunge by Kunkelman in the fourth quarter was the only score the Warriors could muster.

WYOMISSING 7
EXETER 41

Wyomissing absorbed its second defeat against the powerful Exeter Eagles, who prevailed 41-7. A twenty-nine yard touchdown aerial from Schlegel to Tom Bausher gave the Warriors a brief 7-0 lead, but the Eagles completely dominated play thereafter.

SCHWENKSVILLE 0

The Blue and White hit the victory column again as they ripped the wings off the Schwenksville Bluebirds, 31-0. Touchdowns were registered by Schlegel, Bausher, Scholar, Kunkleman, and John Sharman in the best offensive display of the season.

JENKINTOWN 20

In their next encounter the Warriors were upset 20-19 by the Jenkintown Drakes. Touchdowns by Scholar and Kunkleman in the first half had earned Wyomissing a 13-13 tie, but John Costenbader's second half score was offset by a Drake touchdown and extra point conversion.

WYOMISSING 7
DANIEL BOONE 21

Wyomissing received a 21-7 drubbing in its contest with Daniel Boone. Bill Schlegel's one-yard plunge had earned the Warriors a 7-7 halftime tie, but the Blazer defense blanked the Blue and White in the second half.

COLLEGEVILLE 13

In their final game the Warriors salvaged a hard fought 13-13 tie against Collegeville. An early 7-0 lead on a one-yard lunge by Schlegel was not overcome by the Colonels until late in the match, but the Warriors swiftly retaliated on a 73-yard Schlegel-to-Bausher touchdown-pass which earned the squad a deadlock.

*—League Games.

The 1965-66 Warriors, disappointing at the outset of the campaign, rebounded from several early setbacks to close the season with a flurry of victories which fulfilled the promise the squad had shown the previous year.

Six seasoned seniors, Pete Miller, Tom Bausher, Bill Schlegel, Bruce Newton, Dave Ahner, and Larry McLean, formed the nucleus of Coach Aubrey's squad, and were supplemented by Mike Homcha, Phil Smith, Randy Bertolette, Pete Bausher, Jan Burkey, Bob Restrepo, Doug Wiest, and Cary Adams.

After turning in a mediocre 3-5 record in the first half of league competition, the Warriors suddenly exploded for six straight triumphs, three of which were over opponents who had soundly beaten the Blue and White previously, while dropping two games by a mere total of five points.

Although the club did not possess enough victories to enter championship competition, their late season surge proved that they did possess the fortitude and determination which are the marks of a true champion.

*—League Games.

At Wyomissing, the basketball aspirants who have not yet developed their hoop skills sufficiently to make the Varsity often become members of the Junior Varsity squad.

Under the tutelage of newly acquired Coach Salvador Messina, the J. V. players acquired new techniques which will prove invaluable in their Varsity career.

This year's squad, after successive victories over West Reading and Tulpehocken, found league competition to be quite stiff. The club's record also suffered from the unusually high number of freshmen and sophomore Varsity members.

The team can look forward to a brighter record next season, since several players on this year's club are likely to return for next year's campaign.

Jay Bechtel, human canonnball.

Last year's track squad compiled an impressive 7-1 record, and most of the members of last season's team are returning for competition this season.

Because of the club's small size, it lacks depth in virtually every event, but the merit of the boys who are competing may largely compensate for this drawback. The most promising members are: Bruce Newton, 100 yard dash and hurdle events; Steve Evans, 220 yard and 440 yard dash; Mike Geissler and John Jones, distant races; Andy Maier, discus; and Jim Kunkelman, shotput and javelin.

These members and the remainder of the squad should account for several victories this season, and Mr. Gottshall and the team are eagerly looking forward to a successful campaign.

Cross Country

"Why did I ever go out for this sport?"

Under the guidance of Mr. Gottshall, Cross Country has in recent years developed into one of the school's most successful sports. This year was no exception. Despite its small size, the team still compiled a fine 10-3 record and won second place in the league meet.

Mike Geissler, John Bechtel, Rick Heffner, John Jones, and Jim Frost were the hub of the team, which also included Pete Patton, Steve Evans, Ed Schaeffer, and Charles Wagner. Next year's season also looks promising since four of the six top runners were underclassmen this year.

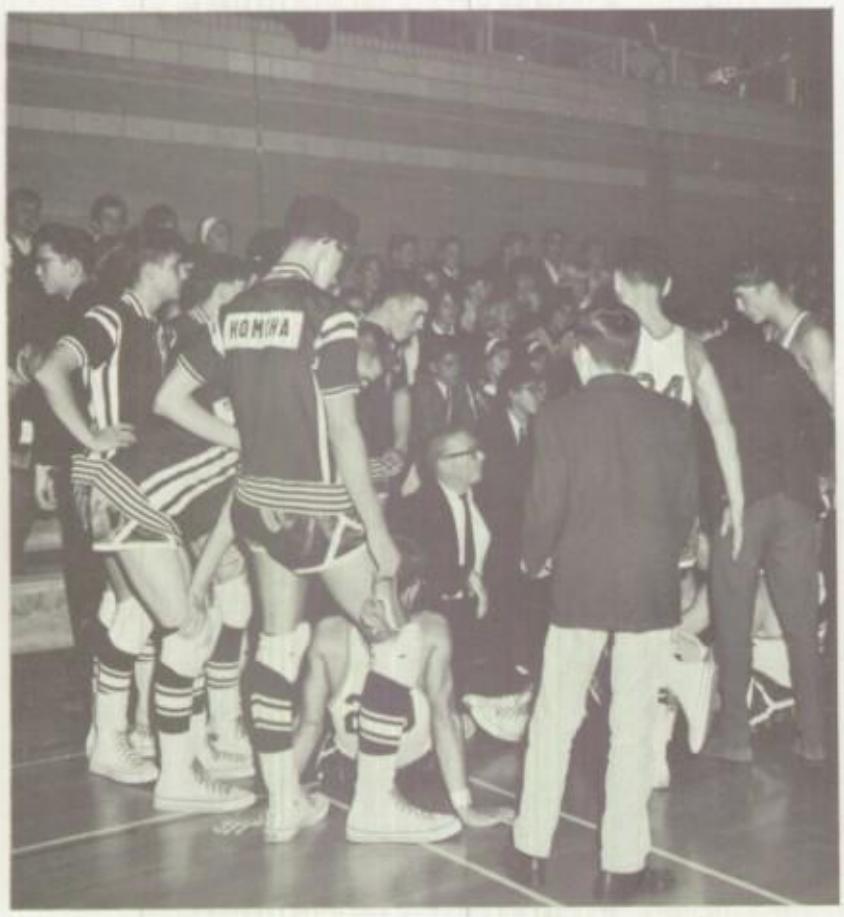
Coaches



Mr. Aubrey psyches up the team.

Essential to any successful team effort is an assiduous coach along the sidelines. Devoted and hard working, the mentors of Wyomissing try to instill in their athletes not only the necessary skill of the sport, but also more important, a sense of good sportsmanship and fair play. Having accomplished this goal makes our defeats easier to accept and our triumphs even more satisfactory.

Managers

Come what may, the Wyomissing manager is a man prepared to meet any athletic predicament. He is responsible for the athletic equipment, medical supplies, and oftimes a word of encouragement in crucial moments of play.

Although the manager is sometimes the whipping post of discouraged teams, all admire his sacrifice of time and energy to fulfill a task well done.

Each year the girls of Wyomissing relieve their academic tensions by participating in the vigorous activities offered by the Junior and Senior Girls Athletic Association.

The members test their skills in hockey, basketball, hit-pin baseball, and volleyball. The hockey season was especially successful this year because of the utilization of the new one-hundred-yard hockey field.

Both Junior and Senior G.A.A., led by Linda Jones and Barbara Ginn respectively, enjoyed an exhilarating season under the supervision of Mrs. Glenn Linderman.

Boys Intramurals

The purpose of intramurals is to provide boys who are not members of Varsity teams with an opportunity to participate in athletics on an intraschool level.

Under the guidance of Mr. Hoffert and Mr. Gottshall, teams are formed within each grade. These squads are divided into junior high and senior high leagues, and the teams that are the league champions win points for their grade which count towards the overall intramural championship for junior and senior high.

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders

The cheerleading squads of the 1965-66 athletic season succeeded dynamically in arousing the school spirit and promoting the good sportsmanship so necessary to a well-rounded school.

The varsity cheerleaders, led by captain Kathy Peters, and the junior varsity cheerleaders, led by Ellen Ludwig, were chosen on the basis of enthusiasm, pep, personality, and scholastic achievement.

These girls, advised by Mrs. Marderness, are to be admired for their smiles and vivaciousness which help to make the football and basketball seasons as colorful as they are.

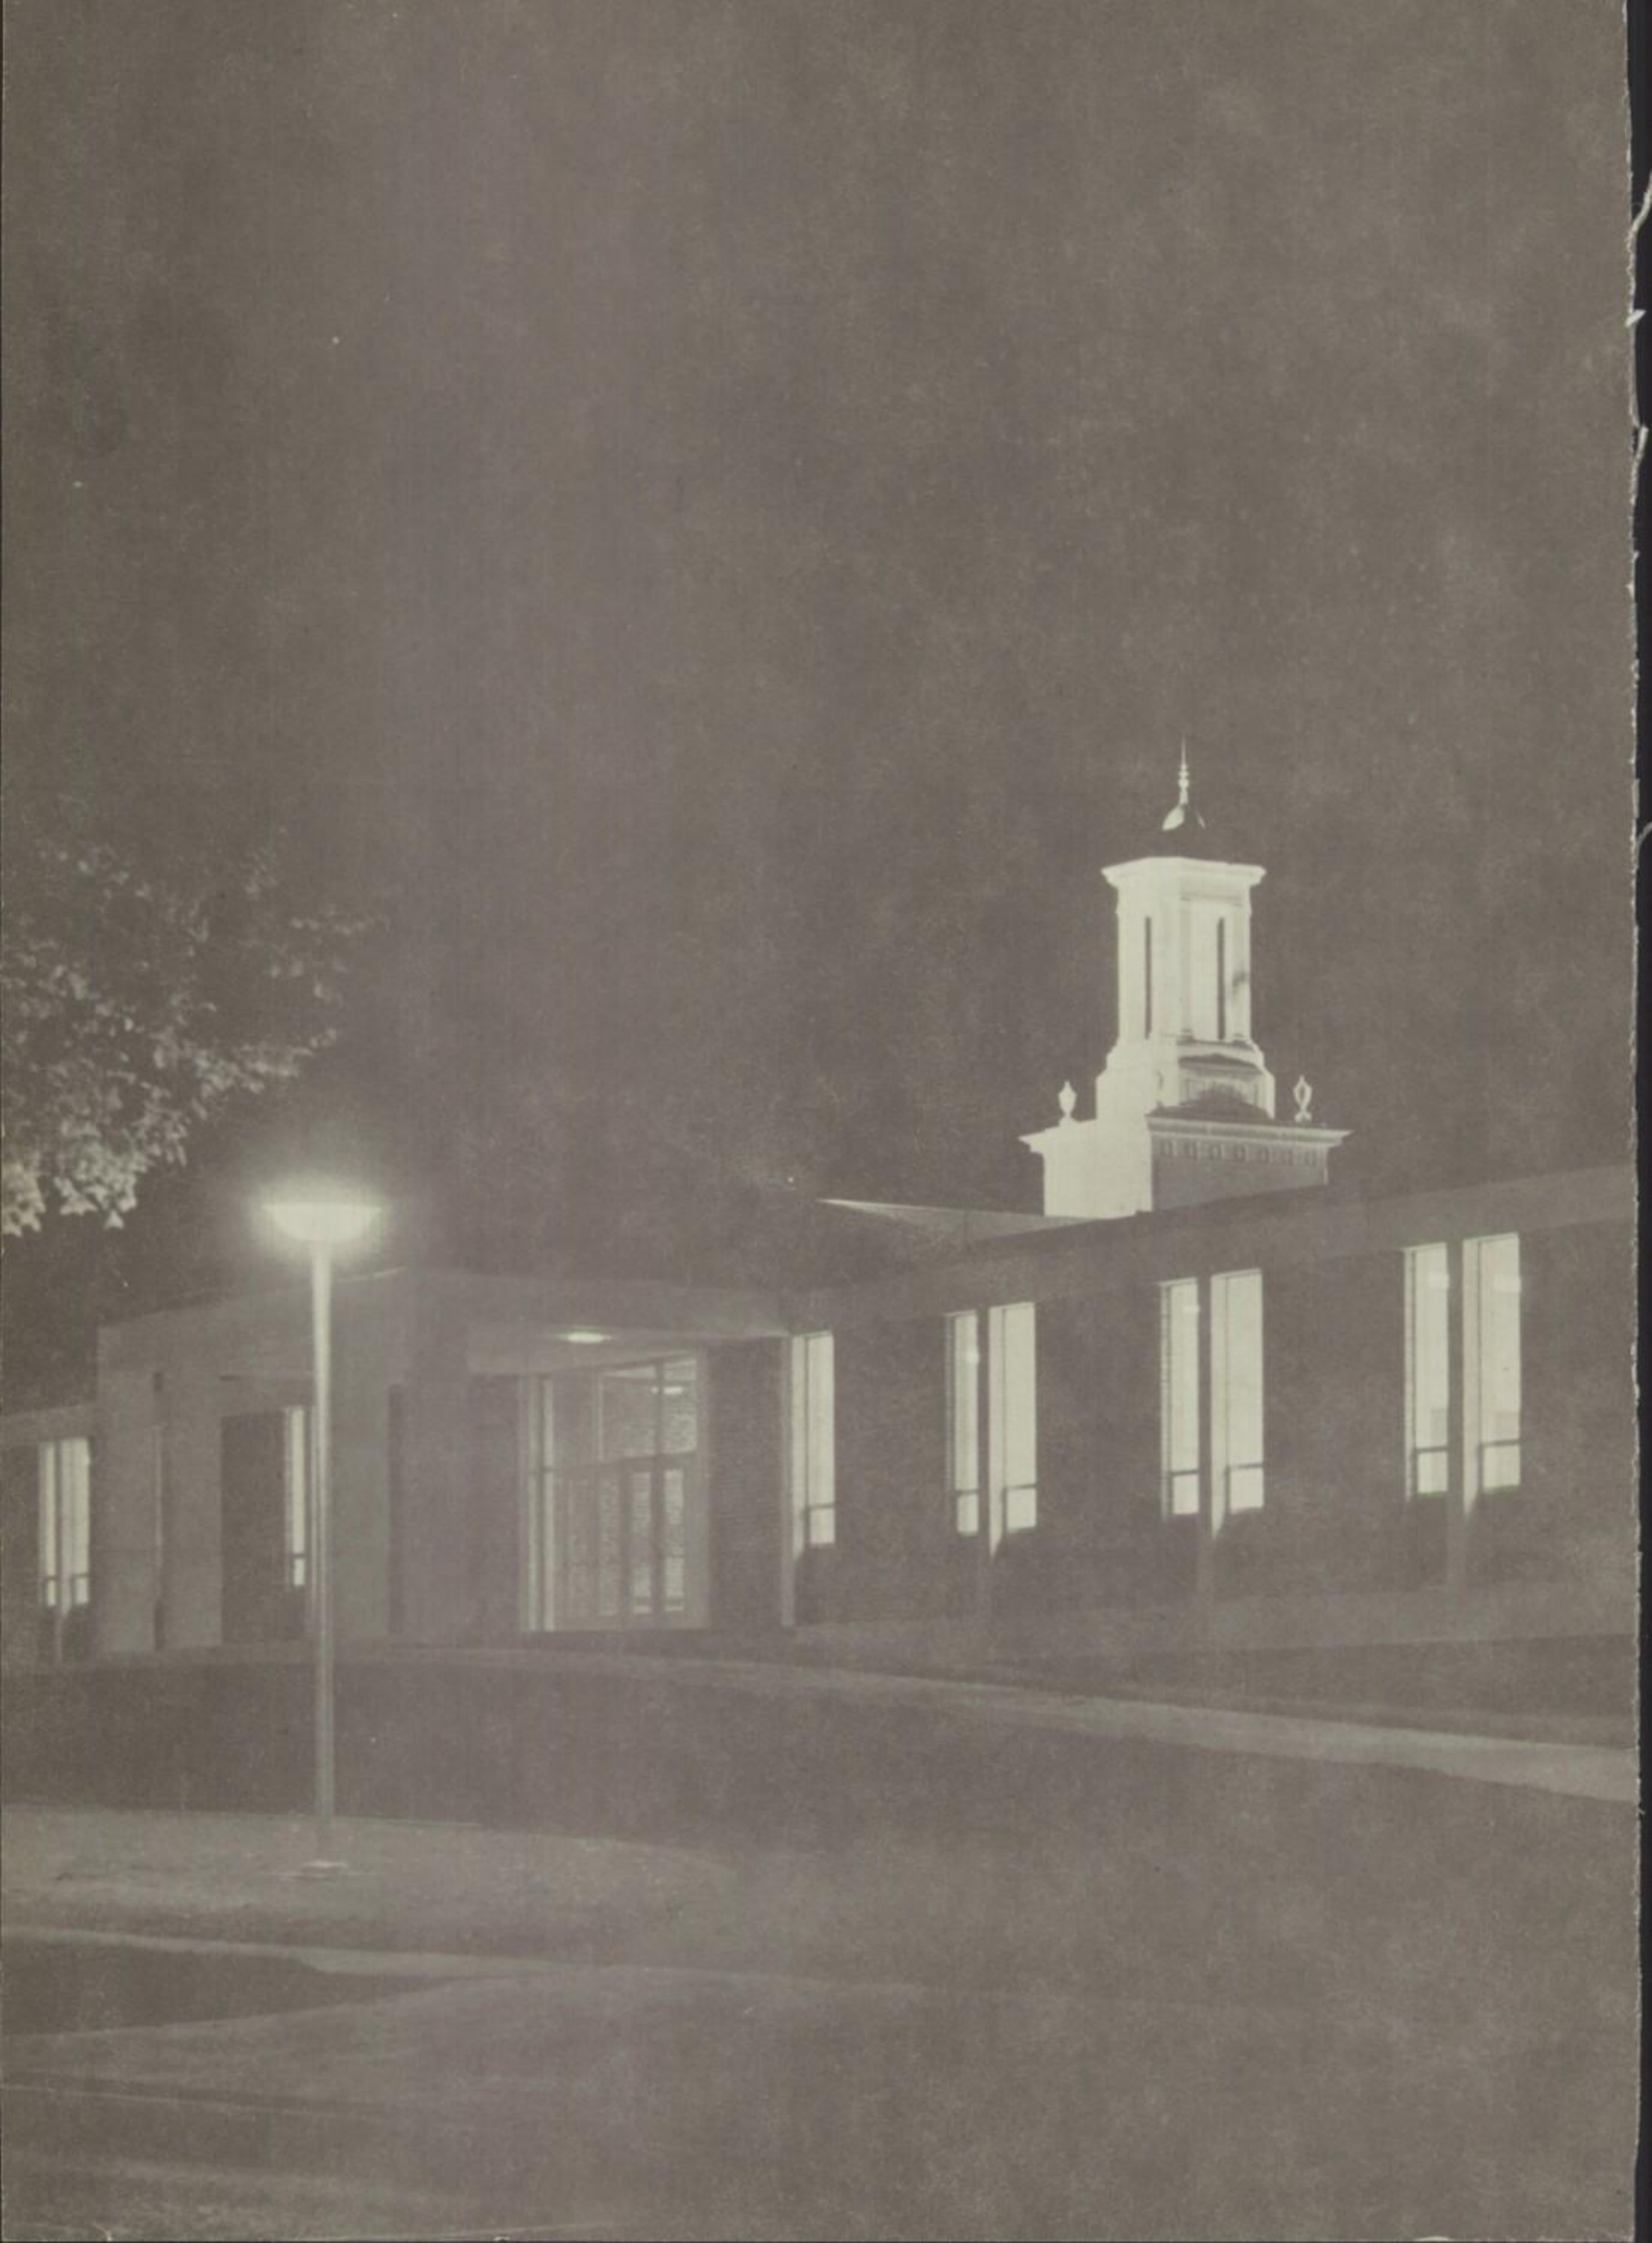
Epilogue

We, the seniors of 1966, have experienced a small taste of the pioneer spirit, and have captured something of their spirit of self-reliance. Assuredly, this will stand us in good stead as we attempt to blaze our own trails in the world.

Acknowledgments

The Class of 1966 would like to express its appreciation for the efforts of those who labored on this year's Colophon. The faculty advisers, Mr. Russell Milford, Mr. D. C. Shirk, and Mr. Charles Goodling, deserve special recognition for their invaluable services. Mr. Milford served as the guiding force to the staff, Mr. Shirk contributed his excellent talents as a photographer, and Mr. Goodling directed the patron drive and other business activities. Thanks are also extended to Ensinger Printing Service, the National Publishing Company, and Pomeroy's Photography Department, for their professional services. Appreciation is again given to the students who worked on the book itself and on the fund drive, and to the entire community for its wholehearted support of our endeavor.

Colophon Tribute


As the ancient Greeks inscribed at the end of each book a Colophon, the hallmark of a work sincerely accomplished, so we, the Class of 1966, affix this seal to our Colophon in the hope that our efforts will have merited such a tribute.
